THEME

With the world in its present turmoil, when youth has little to look to except a future of hard work, it views with greater respect than usual the American Indian and his way of life. He was freedom personified.

His whole existence was the very essence of liberty. He loved the plains and the mountains and the rivers and forests. So that is where he spent his life. His responsibility was only to keep himself clothed and free from hunger. He worshipped God in a manner which gave him most comfort. Anyone who attempted to infringe on the Indian's God-given rights as a free soul met with furious and just opposition. Our ancestors were well aware of this.

Therefore we have chosen an Indian theme for "The Aitchpe '42" because the Indian represents what we are now fighting for—freedom to live according to the code we think is rightful.

Best wishes and loads of luck to a swell guy and pal. Ralph Cole

Dear Marion, I guess you know I think your helpful girl, Marion. Heck (not hell) your family has left me some memories why - look - because of the Lakuchmis I'm going to make my life ambition a career (not like father). And our kids Schlech. Of course I suppose about to our fellows claim over- seas to them. But to Marion & Irish you the best of luck always, loads of luck from Besser fellow

I'll try to be a little different and not go through all the trouble of saying your terrific etc. Marian your really a swell friend, true, & with brains too! Your a very cute kid too. I like your line & I'm not being different. First of all I want to say something that Jinc always said - quote - You'll always be a good wife & probably the first of the damn crowd to get married! (to Mr. Lipkin) right now the damn president of P. A. P. is looking over my shoulder.

Honey I'll try or have tried to express my feelings so I'll close

STUART ROOM

Hyde Park's parlor is the "Agnes Stuart Social Room" where informality and comfort reign supreme. Strains of melodic music and rippling laughter often are heard coming from the innermost recesses of this delightful room. It was dedicated to Miss Agnes Stuart, the former Dean of Girls and classical language teacher at Hyde Park.

The furniture of this inviting room seems to welcome each and every visitor to its comfortable depths. From the time one enters and sinks into the soft blue rug to the moment he reclines into the luxurious sofa or chairs, he is impressed by the room's loveliness. Occupying one corner is the baby grand piano, upon which stands a beautiful picture of Miss Agnes Stuart. Her face seems to lend to the room a part of its radiance, and everyone who enters is affected by its atmosphere of friendliness.

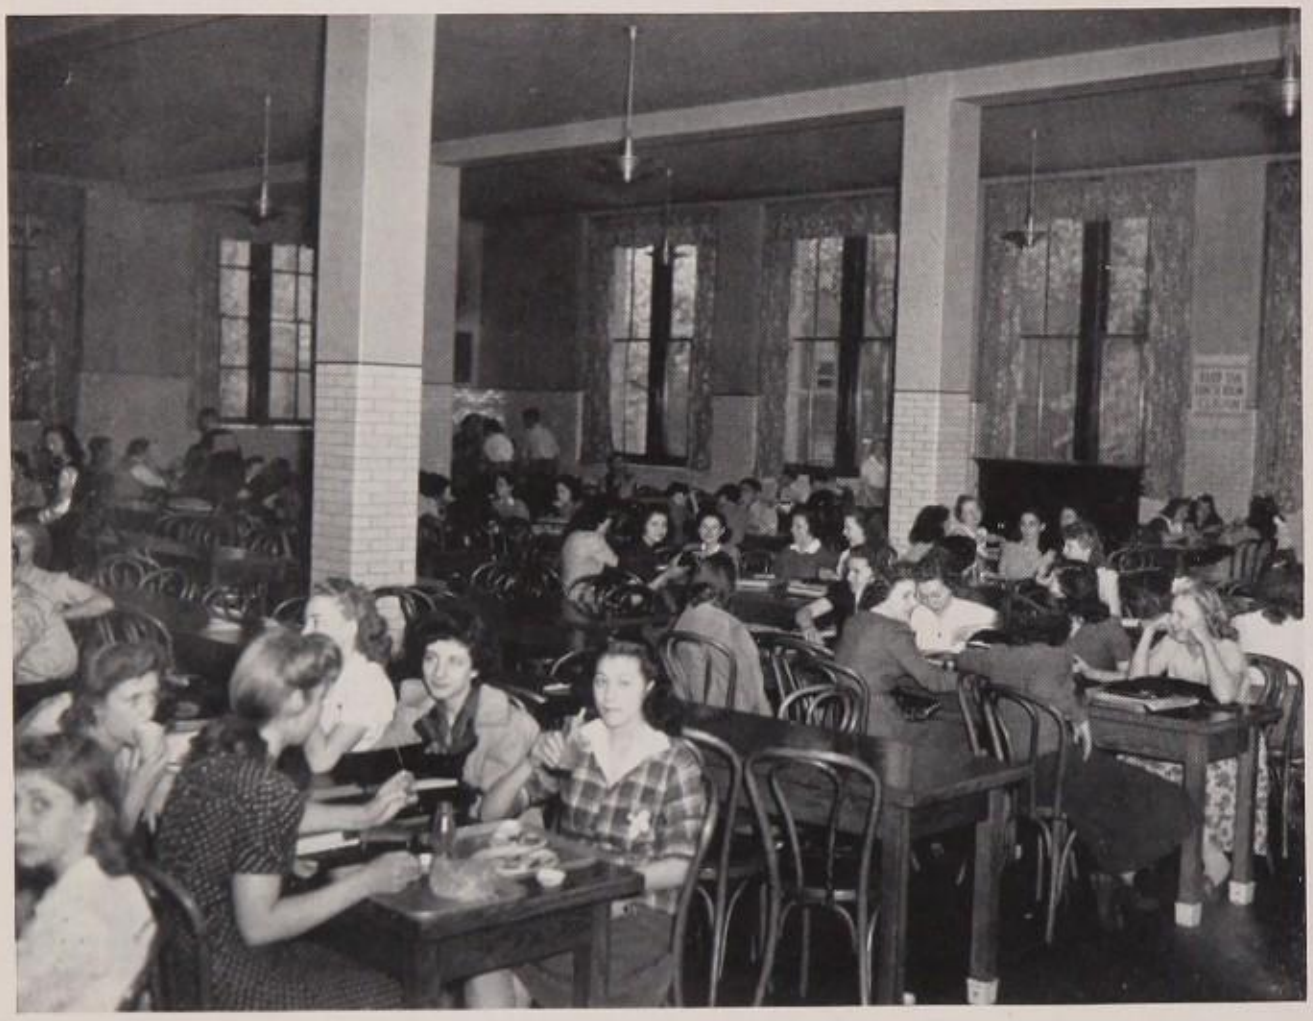
LIBRARY

One of the rooms which the golden sun loves to visit in Hyde Park is the library. Through the tall, wide windows he sees the bent heads of many students, and shelves and shelves of books all neatly waiting in their places until some student deigns to use them.

However, the sun does not know that those books are kept neat only by the diligent efforts of Miss Van Hattem and her assistants.

Courteously these workers assist students and teachers alike in finding books, pamphlets and references. Even strangers chancing into the library instantly see the efficiency with which all tasks are accomplished. Their eyes are charmed by gay posters and pictures that turn the room into a pleasing place for study.

In such an atmosphere the great masters of literature reside, bringing to each generation of Hyde Parkers the wonders of their works.



LUNCH ROOM

Every day toward 11 o'clock a tantalizing aroma wends its way through our school, imbuing the students with thoughts for the inner man. Visions of tempting meals dance through their heads, and as soon as they are able they head to the spot from which the fragrance emanates. You have guessed it, they are off with a dash for the lunchroom.

After selecting their meals from the modern cafeteria aisles, they hasten to a table, and for about five minutes the silence is unbroken except for the munching and crunching of their little jaws.

Although it is not publicly noised around the school, in the hearts of these lunchers is gratitude for the light and airy room, and for the unsung workers who make possible the quantity and quality of the delicious food served daily in the lunchroom.

ADMINISTRATION

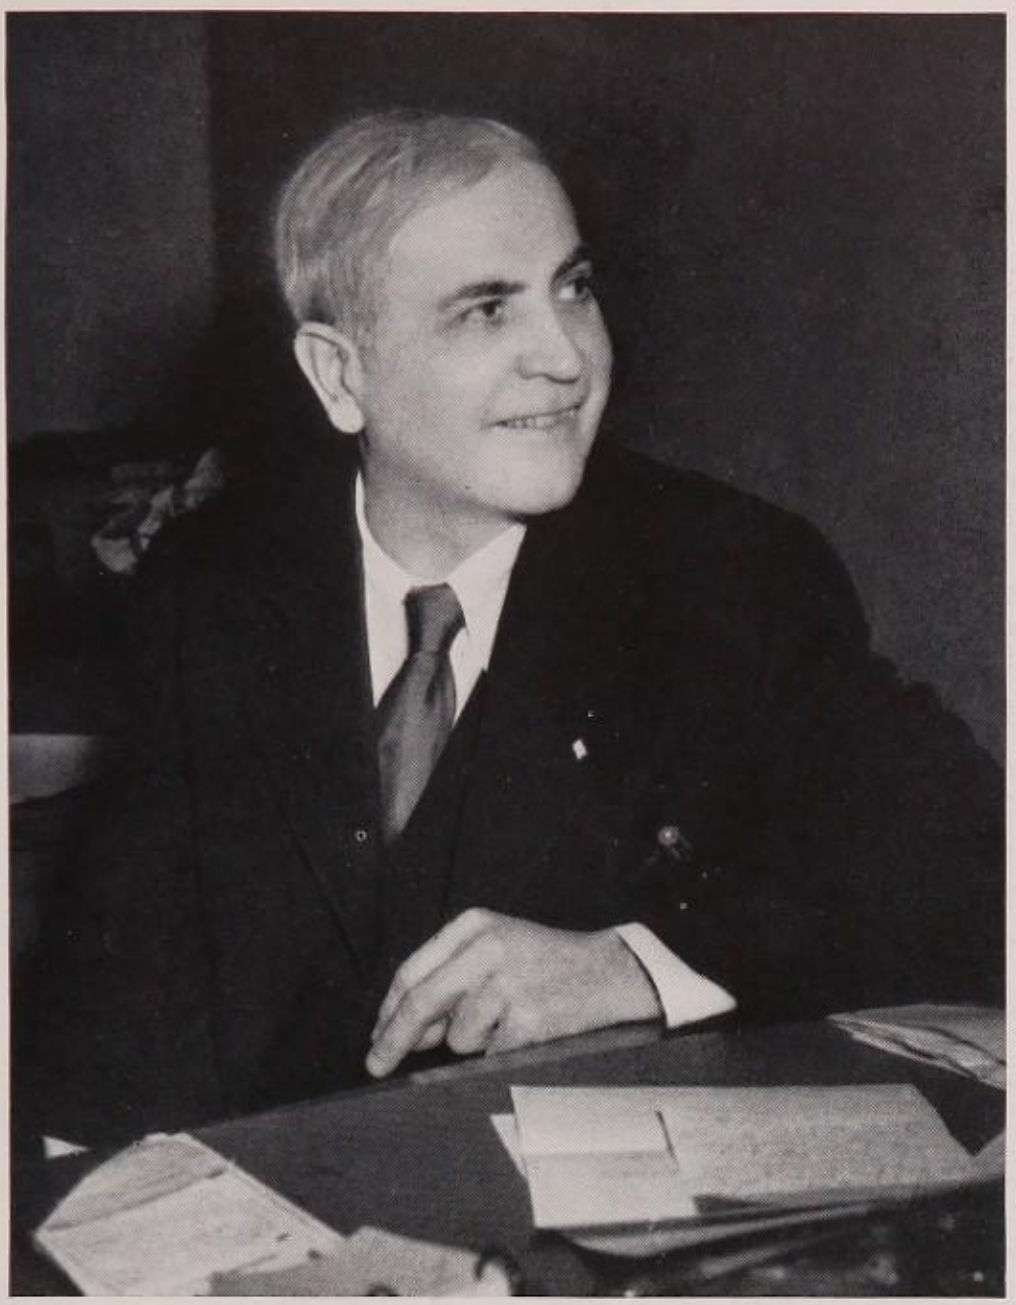
FACULTY

Meet the Hyde Park High School faculty! They are the pedagogues who are to be praised for the fine scholastic showing of Hyde Park students. It is through their hard and tedious work that Hyde Parkers are able to master the numerous subjects. Hyde Parkers know that their instructors are worthy of all praise for excellent educational work.

Many teachers are not satisfied with only instructing their regular classes but take on the added task of sponsoring honor classes. Through these classes students desiring to do advanced study in a subject receive the opportunity. The Aitchpe publications, entertainment groups, and clubs all find willing and able cooperation from the faculty. The energy, time, and effort spent by the teachers in making these extra-curricular groups successful is valued by all the students.

Many readers will receive the impression that these instructors are a "bunch of absent-minded stuffed shirts." That opinion is entirely wrong. One can determine the stuffiness of our instructors by their performances in the annual "Faculty Funnies," where the teachers go to town for a fun filled hour of entertainment to raise money for the Soap and Towel Fund. And believe it or not, those pedagogues are good entertainers!

The teachers always remain friends with their students, even after graduation. Proud indeed are the teachers of their students! And equally proud are the students of their teacher friends.



OUR PRINCIPAL

MR. JOSEPH F. GONNELLY

Have you ever been in a city, town, hamlet, or village which did not boast at least one Hoosier? Does Indiana rear her "young 'uns" only to have them flee from her confines? This I am sure must be the case because here at Hyde Park we have many runaway Hoosiers, chief of whom is Mr. Joseph F. Gonnelly.

Mr. Gonnelly, as all you brilliant Hyde Parkers know, is our distinguished principal. From his sanctuary in the North Office he gives the orders which make the wheels of Hyde Park go 'round. Day in and day out, year after year, for eight long years he has guided the destiny of Hyde Park. He has seen students, good, bad and indifferent, come and go. He has learned some facts of their lives, but does the average Hyde Parker know anything about his principal? No!

Little do they know that while yet a young pedagogue he left his native state, bent on conquering the world of teaching. Yes, it is amazing what little knowledge students have about the man who shapes their school careers. But, if they do not know anything of his personal history, they are proud of the excellent record he has made here.

Mr. Specht, Ass't Principal.

Standing—Mrs. Edgar; Mr. McGuane; Miss Robb; Mr. Rohrke.
Seated—Miss Whelan; Miss Walker; Mrs. Priddy; Miss Messelheiser.

GRADE ADVISORS

This year "something new has been added" to Hyde Park. It is an addition to the Hyde Park faculty, in the person of Mr. John Specht, our assistant principal. Mr. Specht is a hometown boy, being born here bl-r-r years ago. While yet a "young'un" he determined to become a learned pedagogue. So, with a right good will he buckled down to the arduous task and today we, here at Hyde Park behold the fruits of his labor . . . and are they good!

Two other high schools can claim the distinction of housing Mr. Specht: Morgan Park, his first love, and Tilden Tech, his second. But all Hyde Parkers are hoping that this school will be his last romance.

Now to the matter of grade advisors—let's see—Mrs. Grace Edgar and Miss Harriet Messelheiser admonish 4A's regarding conduct and programs.

The happy-go-lucky Sophs bring their grade problems to Mrs. Sara Priddy and Miss Veronica Whelan while the palpitating freshies have Miss Mary Robb and Mr. Lloyd Rohrke as counselors.

With such wise heads to advise the students of Hyde Park High, it is amazing that anyone ever is bad. So, with even-handed justice these judges carefully weigh the evidence. When everything is judged the exceptionally unruly child is marched to Mr. Gonnelly.

JUNE SENIORS

This June, through the portals of high schools all over our land, marches a mighty army of girls and boys ready to take their place as citizens of the world. America's future depends, in part, on them. Right now many of the youths of the mighty band are enlisting in the armed forces, eager and ready to shoulder the task which the previous generation left unfinished.

With so much depending on them, it is essential that they be properly prepared to support their heavy burden. This training, for the main part, is the responsibility of the countless high schools of our nation. Whether they have done a good job, only time will tell.

One of these high schools is Hyde Park, which has been graduating students for more than fifty years. Not a few of this tremendous family have become persons of note in the world. With such a proud history behind our school, there is little doubt as to the probable caliber of the graduating seniors of June, 1942. Already some of their number have received special recognition of their worth from various universities and colleges, by way of scholarships.

So . . . Go! Class of '42, with courageous hearts into a world torn once again with strife. Go! for it is up to you and your thousands of brothers and sisters scattered over the United States, to right the havoc wrought by the greed of a few ruthless dictators.

QUEEN AITCHPE

PHOEBE HOPKINS

Well, here we are again, trying to find something to say about the Queen of the Aitchpe. Seems as though every year about this time we start looking over the merits of our Queen. This one is a very charming girl, very active in school, being not only a four-year Sigma, but also the Public Relations Editor of the Weekly.

As if this isn't enough, she is attractive. People look twice when she walks by, and small wonder. Just take a peek at the above picture of Phoebe Hopkins, and see if you do not heartily agree with them. She has lovely brown hair, beautiful hazel eyes, and a gorgeous smile, to say nothing of an engaging personality; all good reasons why we are proud to hail her as Queen.

KING AITCHPE

BOB NELSON

Seems as though all the kings of the "Aitchpe" can be classified as tall and handsome. This year's choice is no exception! Plus these desirable masculine qualities, he has prowess in things athletic, as a quick glance at the sport pages will prove. Yes, sir! Bob Nelson is a leading tribesman of Hyde Park.

Surprisingly enough, this fellow is modest to boot. Is it any wonder then, that feminine eyebrows whistle as he goes past? (Courtesy of the "Reader's Digest," slightly revised.)

Enough of the useless chatter concerning this young man. Why should I go into ecstasies when one glance at the above likeness tells all you need to know.

OH! FOR THE LIFE OF A SENIOR

FEBRUARY SENIORS

FEBRUARY, 1943

One, two, three, four! Count them! Four long years of toil and trouble. Now after this period of strife the victims have been pardoned. For in February, Hyde Park will graduate approximately two hundred of the hardy group that began the uphill struggle four years ago. They now are ready to face the outside world with a smile on their lips and their prized sheepskins sticking jauntily out of their pockets.

These diplomas do not stand simply for satisfactory marks in high school, but rather an assimilation of knowledge. Knowledge that will help them to carve a place for themselves in their future lives.

Besides securing information, the graduates have gained knowledge not to be found in books. By engaging in athletics and activities of all kinds they have learned the priceless formula for living together in a communal organization. They have discovered how to coordinate the mind and body, work and play—they have started on the road to adulthood.

Some of this class, which has been molded during the four years by many forces, will go on to further study; others will seek employment; never again will they be the unit which they are now.

In the past these Hyde Parkers have seen moments of work and moments of pleasure. Such memories, welded together, form their school career of which the only tangible evidence is this Annual.

CLASSES

DIVISION CONLEY: Row 3—D. Kernchen, C. Bolton, J. Kane, H. Brown, A. Robeck, N. Hart. Row 2—C. Schram, M. Goldberg, Z. Corpeny, B. Woolf, D. Kraft, L. Kuh, D. Meltzer. Row 1—M. Steinberg, J. Coleman, A. Halaska, Miss Conley, D. Jadwin, V. Gongaware, S. Kaplan.

4A DIVISIONS

This is the last assemblage of these 4A divisions. Never again will these boys and girls form the groups of which they are so rightfully proud. No, nevermore, nevermore. But, hold back those tears that now dim your lustrous eyes, while we reminisce.

Four long years ago, these mighty seniors were palpitating freshies, straight from the motherly wings of their respective grammar schools. Masking their terror under a robe of bravado, they entered the doors which they are now so reluctantly leaving. Once again they are entering a world unknown to them. But are they downhearted? No! While at Hyde Park they have acquired the tools with which they are going to carve their niche into society's cold, cruel heart.

Some are once again going to become freshies, but this time the place will be at those institutions of higher learning,

DIVISION PEEBLES: Row 3—D. McCune, J. Minsky, G. Shackleton, H. Rosenwald, D. Weissman, M. O'Leary, D. Meltzer, G. Sanford, D. Shugan, L. Delaveris. Row 2—A. Brown, J. Price, E. Cline, J. Dennett, H. Reich, N. Robertson M. Hites. Row 1—Miss Peebles, J. Caplan, S. Brown, P. May, R. Quick, R. Kline, O. Maglio.

DIVISION SHIDELER: Row 3—E. Lipkin, D. Willer, B. Bain, B. Branch, P. Stone, B. Sehmann, V. Kohlenberger, J. Scott. Row 2—R. Hirsch, E. Flessor, G. Goldstein, E. Rubin, C. Kingery, L. Kuh, B. Silberman. Row 1—W. Kelley, W. Pinkerton, P. Reinertsen, Mr. Shideler, F. Hosimer, C. Scheff, B. Cohn.

DIVISION TUCKER I: Row 4—P. Guettel, A. Murison, V. Lewis, E. Hays, C. Peterson, C. Walton, C. Wigod, H. Stanley. Row 3—F. Yeager, P. Marks, I. Shull, L. Wright, R. Pederson, P. Alsip, M. Shilton, E. the colleges and universities of our fair land. My! but these are courageous students. Knowing full well the horrors which are the lot of these freshmen, they are still continuing. Truly these are brave children of Hyde Park.

Speaking of bravery, some of the gallant lads pictured here are going to enlist in the armed forces of our land. They are doing this so that other, future groups of Americans can be assured the inestimable privilege of attending schools where the basic freedoms of democracy are not abridged.

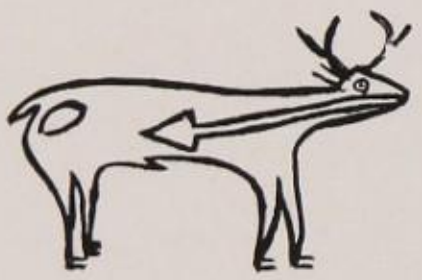
Others of this number will be going into the business world, while some of the girls may be entering the blessed state of matrimony.

Whether their lot be military service, marriage, college, or business, just by glancing at the above beaming faces, you can tell that they will succeed.

DIVISION TUCKER II: Row 2—D. Sabbath, S. Greenwald, H. Fung. Row 1—J. Clark, E. Angrist, Mr. Tucker, J. Piowaty, A. Murison.

DIVISION UPTON: Row 4—M. Belson, Pres., B. Carter, J. Fein, J. Coleman, B. Stern, B. Guthman, M. Goldberg, E. Shapiro, G. Kaplan. Row 3—J. James, J. Brogue, M. Hamilton, M. Zimmerman, R. Napthal, C. Waldner, C. Easton, E. Stuart.

4B CLASS OFFICERS:
I. Schwartz, Vice-Pres.
V. Barnes, Sec'y.
B. Chase, Pres.
R. Peterson, Comm.



4B DIVISIONS

With the coming of February Hyde Parkers will no longer catch glimpses of these eager faces along the corridors. When this wintry month blows around these students will graduate from our school.

However, right now the least of their numberless troubles is graduation. They are worrying whether or not they will be four-year Sigmas, in the upper third of their class, or whether they will graduate at all. Programs are still a problem; homework is bothersome —especially with Jackson Park so beautiful, so enticing, so near.

DIVISION BENSEMA: Row 2—L. Davis, N. Kramer, D. Mosner, G. Granert, D. Shandling, N. Gatons, J. Bowen, E. Levit, C. Gustafson. Row 1—M. Klein, V. Andrews, A. Abram, D. Anderson, E. Howison, C. Kirk, M. Worley, E. Kennedy, E. Cole.

Despite their somewhat momentous problems these near-graduates are looking forward to their final semester of high school. After three and one-half years of hard labor they have gained that reward due them—they will be the triumphant "cocks" of the Hyde Park walk.

DIVISION McGURK: Row 3—R. Herzoff, F. Epstein, M. Goodman, A. Briggs, J. Poister, V. Benson, E. Goldman, J. Koeppen, P. Reich, E. Peters, R. Levy. Row 2—M. Cooksey, B. Baron, D. Huane, J. Gober, H. SIGMA EPSILON

Perhaps your eye has been caught by a bit of gold gleaming upon the breast of a student. A person thus adorned belongs to the noble order of Sigma Epsilon and is called by Hyde Parkers, a Sigma. To be eligible for membership it is necessary to have an "E" average in every major subject, and a "G" average in each minor; and these grades must continue in order for members to remain in good standing. Perhaps these requirements do not sound as difficult to maintain as they actually are, but one need only question a Sigma student to learn the truth of this statement. However, no one belonging to Sigma ever regrets the effort which he puts in to keep his status. This can be proved by simply noting the number of Sigma Epsilon pupils, which is approximately 570. What other club can claim such a huge list of student-backers?

Sigma is one of our oldest and most popular organizations, with one of our best-liked teachers, Miss Beulah Shoesmith, as its sponsor. Miss Shoesmith has always striven to make the group a congenial place where the "bright kiddies" of Hyde Park can relax from study labor and be natural. No worrying thoughts are allowed to come through the door. Perhaps this is one reason for the popularity of the club. Another lies in the enormous scope of the club's activity. Unlike most other groups, even Sigma's initial meeting is a social one. During this time those prized pins are awarded, and an additional honor is added because Mr. Gonnelly presents them. Because, when these wizards gather, merriment reigns; studies are forgotten as they gaily participate in the fun.

On November 5, 1942, the first gala event of the year occurred. These girls and boys "let down their hair" in true fashion and went swimming. Yes! it was Sigma's Splash Party. Held in the natatorium of our school, diving, swimming, and poolside conversations were the order of the day. It is scarcely necessary to add that everyone had a grand time.

The next important affair was a surprise for all. It was a "rip-snortin' " barn dance. Of course Sigma had to have all the trimmings, and so throughout Hyde Park, on that day to be remembered, echoed the sounds of dancing mingled with happy shouts, lilting music, and the powerful voice of the "caller." Much as everyone enjoyed the reels and square-dances, all soon began to feel the effects. "Tummies" started to call for nourishment. So it was not with reluctance that they stayed their revelry to partake of the delicious refreshments, which were served to them as a reward for their energetic efforts.

But whoever heard of stopping at two big events? Certainly not the Sigma program committee. Christmas was on its way and right along with it came the Sigma Christmas party, complete with Santa. Each member happily came with a gift for another, and that gay "old" gentleman who dispersed presents with such a lavish hand to one and all, turned out to be none other than that athletic senior, Harvey Rose. And oh! my! the gifts which were presented; everything from a fishbowl filled with real live fish—to a bottle of "intoxicating liquor," which was given to Miss Shoesmith. It was late in the day when the celebration ended with cries for a "Merry Christmas" and a "Happy New Year."

With the new year came that all-important election day. The big question in everyone's mind was: "Who will be the future Sigma leaders?" Martha Smalley, the fall president, was graduating, leaving that vital executive post open. By the unanimous consent of all, that problem was soon remedied. Phil Reinertsen was chosen president with Leon Strauss, who was the fall treasurer, as vice-president, and George Hilton as the new treasurer. Edna Indritz, the secretary of last fall, was re-elected to this position.

Many people believe that the vice-president has nothing to do but substitute for the president. In Sigma, however, this is not true. The job which Leon Strauss took over is no easy task, for he is the one who acts as the chairman of the numerous committees. He must inspire each group to plan and execute its program. He is a veritable personnel officer. The other officers also have a full program, for their one objective is to give the Sigma members a club which lives up to their standard—brilliancy.

It is said that friendship grows from a common interest. This interest in Sigma is the desire for good grades, and it has resulted in many lasting friendships. Before the meetings began, there can be heard eminating from the "Agnes Stuart Social Room" the buzz of controlled voices debating, joking, laughing, and gossiping. You may wonder at the inclusion of the last since it is the common belief of many non-Sigmas that the organization is filled with "stuffed Shirts." This is not true, because these girls and boys love to talk of inconsequential things as much as the poorer student.

It is interesting to note why the organization of Sigma Epsilon was founded, when and who its first officers were. The birth of the club was quite a surprise to the school in general, but a happy one. It came about when the teachers decided that, for a change, they would like to deal with those whose conduct never sent them to the office.

When the club was first established the faculty started an idea which was such a good one that it has been retained in all Sigma schedules up to this day, and all of the members hope it will never be dropped. This idea was that the teachers themselves should provide some of the entertainment—not staid and dignified, but that type which is enjoyable to all beholders.

The first president of Sigma was a girl! Her name was Gracia Stephenson and I'm told that she presided over the meetings very capably. The vice-president, secretary, and treasurer were Harriet Irwin, Julia Rhodus, and Emil Bloche, respectively.

Today, the effect of this organization upon the school is immeasurable. Not only are the teachers appreciative of having these excellent scholars in their classes, but also, even more than their fine studying and preparation for the class, they enjoy having students who do not have to be disciplined.

Many teachers make known their appreciation for these good workers by listing their names on the blackboard every marking period. With such pupils in the classroom naturally the faculty member is able to accomplish a great deal more of the course since these masterminds set the pace for the remainder of the room.

If a student has maintained an average of Sigma throughout his four years he reaps this grand reward. If his studies are up to Sigma rating he does not have to take the final examinations! While his less industrious classmates are cringing with the awful thought of the finals he is carefree and calm. On the examination days he does not have to come to the school at all. As if this weren't enough he also receives that small golden emblem of Sigma Epsilon upon graduation.

One of the honors toward which all Sigma students naturally strive is the winning of a scholarship. Each semester a number of universities and colleges offer scholarship examinations, and very often some of the lucky winners are from Hyde Park's Sigma organization. Just listen to a list of only a few who have won these precious honors. The starting point in this citation is that institution of learning which is almost in Hyde Park's back yard—the University of Chicago. Competing for the twenty full scholarships and twenty-one half scholarships, which were to be given as prizes for the competitive examinations held in April, were approximately eleven hundred pupils from various centers all over the United States. Among the winners Idell Lowenstein of Hyde Park received a full scholarship while Janice Brogue obtained a half-scholarship. The latter girl, however, has also been awarded a full one to the University of Chicago as a result of her splendid work in the State Latin contests. Phil Reinertsen, of whom you have read elsewhere in this book, won a civic award scholarship because of his all around capabilities in subjects athletic and educational.

Leaving the University of Chicago, we next journey to the Illinois Institute of Technology, where Felix Rosenthal and Joseph Gale receive a year's scholarship in the Armour College of Engineering division. Next on the list is the Central Young Men's Christian Association College, where again two brilliant Hyde Parkers came up with laurels—they are Caroline Winograd, who won a full scholarship and Helen Maisner who is entitled to a half one. Concluding this admirable list are Marjorie Tullis and Martha Smalley, who have been selected for full scholarships at Cornell College and Beloit, respectively. The teachers who helped guide these smart ones through their courses may be proud of their ex-students.

Therefore it is in keeping with the high standing of the many members that the originators in obtaining a motto for the group went to the Greek language and came up with "Sophos Ergo," which, when translated, signifies "skilled in work." A more fitting slogan for such a body of students would be hard to find.

Hyde Parkers are proud of these students for they know that they will succeed in adding to the honors which have been heaped upon Hyde Park's brow. Some of the most distinctive thinkers in the United States are graduates of our school and ex-members of Sigma.

Up to this point I have been stressing the intelligence of the Sigma Epsilon members, but just listen while I tell you of honors in other fields which some of these students have reaped. I would be almost one hundred percent correct if I said that the various editors of Pens, the Weekly, and the Aitchpe, this yearbook, were members in good standing of this noteworthy society. This year's Queen of the Aitchpe, Phoebe Hopkins, is a four year Sigma. I could cite many other examples of a Sigma's versatility but it would require much more space than I have allotted me in this book.

HISTORY HONOR

A well-informed populace is the best guarantee of the preservation of the vital freedom so dear to lovers of liberty. Thus the generation who will shortly take their places as citizens of our great republic owe it to themselves and their country as well, to become conscious of the historical background of the events that are shaping the destiny of the world.

With this objective in view the History Honor Club, under the direction of Mr. Walter Hipple, delves into the past to form interpretations of the world-shaking cataclysm of the present day.

Through discussions, book reviews, debates, and the like, events of the moment are made clearer and more intelligible in the light of the historic past, to the members of this group. By viewing ideas on the larger stage of time, the club is able to gain the proper perspective on events that otherwise would seem unconnected segments of the world's history.

Today, when the very foundations of our nation are seriously threatened, it is more than ever necessary that Americans, such as these Hyde Parkers go back to the stirring story of our nation's birth to draw increased courage and devotion from the principles which brought to men the liberty for which they had searched vainly for centuries. From the background of man's struggle against tyranny, men all over the world may draw assurance that the future will mark the dawn of a new day for a world that has suffered too long as a victim of its own hand.

PYTHAGOREANS

Today as never before mathematics looms large in the curriculum of the schools of our nation. Where once this subject for the high school student was looked upon as a course which built logical mental processes, or prepared the way for an engineering course in college, the study has now assumed practical importance in the training of future officers for the armed forces.

The Pythagoreans, senior mathematics honor class of Hyde Park which is sponsored by Miss Beulah Shoesmith, is the oldest honor society of the school. For over thirty-five years members of this group have delved into higher mathematics. Also, alumni of the club have distinguished themselves at such institutions as M.I.T., Annapolis, West Point, and others equally renowned.

EUCLIDEANS

If you have managed to struggle through two years of mathematics and are still able to take punishment, Euclideans is the club for you. Sponsored by Mrs. Lundquist, this group of junior Einsteins delves into higher mathematics with a vim that is reminiscent of the "freshie's" waiting for the end of his first day. If you are congruently minded or see secants in your dreams, you will be right at home with these disciples of the compass. However, if you do not know Pythagoras by his first name or think Euclid is just the name of a street in South Shore, take a tip from us and join another club.

While to most pupils mathematics remains figuratively and literally "Greek," nothing short of college calculus could faze these Euclideans.

SENIOR ENGLISH HONOR

The English devotees of Hyde Park gather at the daily meetings of the Senior English Honor class for a period of literary gabfest and grammatical braintwisting. Under the jovial leadership of Miss Rubetta Biggs, this ardent group of seniors discusses essays, novels, poetry, and the authors who produce them.

Aside from literature and grammar, philosophy and vocabulary are subjects studied by the honor class. To study philosophy the class reviews the works of the master philosophers of the world. These studies lead to numerous interesting and critical discussions. But at all times an air of informality and friendliness prevails, for the desire to learn is a chief characteristic of this honor class.

JUNIOR ENGLISH HONOR

To students with a real desire to further their knowledge of English literature, the Junior English Honor opens its portals. Under the direction of Miss Buchanan, students with an "E" average in English may learn the great beauties abounding in literature. The group ponders over such varied works as the Bible, poems of Carl Sandburg, Dryden, Pope, and the plays of Bernard Shaw. After reading the interesting assignments, the pupils engage in discussions concerning work they have finished.

The members of the club are by no means stuffed shirts; as they give parties which are both amusing and entertaining.

To end their cultural and social attainments, the girls in the group knit for the Red Cross. Can anyone ask for more?

ANNUAL MINOR STAFF

Who are the unsung heroes of the "Aitchpe"? Who is responsible for this splendid publication on which you, dear reader, are now feasting your eyes? Of course the answers to these questions are as obvious as the nose on Jimmy Durante's face. It is the minor staff.

The task of putting out such a book is one that requires the utmost in teamwork. Whatever the results may be, it is through the efforts of all concerned that they were achieved.

The minor staff is composed of thirty or more students whose job it is to aid the departmental editors in all of the "behind the scenes" work so necessary to the production of a yearbook. The results of these efforts must be judged by the reactions of the readers. In the hands of the subscribers lies the verdict of the success or failure of our assigned task.

The object of the annual staff has been to present a book which will record as far as possible the school year just past. In your "Aitchpe" may be found individual senior pictures with a listing of each senior's activities, division room pictures, club and honor class groups, and the best liked pictures of all, the candid shots.

In years to come when you wish to remember some friend, teacher, or even a pleasing incident in your school career, the Aitchpe will be the key to open your memory. As you glance over the many pages, we hope you will enjoy the "Aitchpe" as much as the staff enjoyed the task of producing it for you.

MUST WE SAY ANYTHING?

Interesting?
Allah.
Keeping the records straight.
Industrious one.
Sticky, isn't it?

Pensive.
A conference.
Taste good?
Watch the birdie.

Bowling Star.
Side splitting, isn't it?
Getting set.
All in the way you hold your mouth.

THE WEEKLY'S INSIDE JOB

It's like this—
A bit of advice.
Ambitious.

WEEKLY

In times such as these the newspaper has assumed added significance as a medium of expression and an agency of public opinion. Journalism has become a profession that is increasing in stature with each successive day.

In order to teach the rudiments of journalism and at the same time give the school a newspaper which is so essential for a group of students as large as ours is, Miss Helen Gallagher, together with a staff of pupils interested in newspaper work produce for us each semester approximately thirteen issues of the "Hyde Park Weekly."

To become a member of the "Weekly" staff it is first necessary to take an examination offered every term by Miss Gallagher. Those who pass the test then enter a pre-journalism and journalism class respectively. After this year of training is completed, they are eligible for the staff.

The "Weekly," through the efforts of its trained workers, has maintained an enviable record for many years and ranks at present as one of the finest school journals in the country. While the two other publications of Hyde Park, the "Aitchpe" and "Pens" are presented but once and twice a year, it is necessary for the "Weekly" staff to meet about twenty-six deadlines each year. This requires a group which "keeps on its toes" every single minute.

Because it represents the students and is the organ whereby they are able to air their views, the "Hyde Park Weekly" is making a real contribution to Hyde Park.

PENS

Do you have an inky strain in your blood? If you have noticed such a symptom, hasten to join the staff of the Pens magazine, where the future Carl Sandburg's and Edna Ferber's are at work.

Every semester a competent staff reveals their ability in a publication which has many merits. The fruits of their toil can be seen in the short stories, features, non-fiction articles and poetry which are enclosed in an attractive cover. Also, scattered throughout are odd bits of humor which add the proper seasoning to this fine literary "dish".

In their quest for good literature, Pens sponsors a contest with prizes for the best poems and short stories submitted by those Hyde Parkers who have writing ability. Thus it gives budding authors an opportunity to disclose their talent to the school.

The continued excellence of this magazine through the years may be attributed to Miss Marguerite Byrne, the advisor, who inspires the staff to higher endeavor.

Just as important to the success of Pens as the writers is the little publicized business staff which attends to the practical side of the publishing. To them belongs the credit for the large number of issues sold this year; for with songs declaring the worth of their product, screwy commercials and the all important contest, they hammered away at Hyde Park's sales resistance.

Do listen, fellow students, look with a careful eye at the picture of the staff of this publication for someday one of them may be a Pulitzer Prize winner.

SENIOR SPONSORS

After wandering into class and discovering that teacher is absent, you probably thought, to your delight, there would be no homework and no classwork. Hurrah! But suddenly you notice an unfamiliar figure standing in front of the room. Who can it be? You soon learn that the happy looking young student is a Senior Sponsor. Of course this means classwork and most likely a home assignment, but after taking another look at your teacher's "stand-in" you decide it is worth-while.

The duties of the group are many, but they are all performed with the same zeal and enthusiasm. At registration time when everyone else is scurrying about, Senior Sponsors are cool and calm as they go about their various registration tasks. The North and South Offices are also given necessary assistance by this competent group. Last but not least, this year Senior Sponsors have done their bit for national defense. During sugar rationing week, they very graciously gave six hours of their day and acted as ushers, thereby relieving some of the strain on the teachers.

Through the diligent efforts of Miss Kuehn, each year this group has attained a higher standard of perfection. The requirements to become a sponsor are high because of the responsibility which naturally goes along with the title. Miss Kuehn requires all applicants to have a "G" average in every subject and to present a recommendation from their division room teacher. These standards have kept the organization of Senior Sponsors in readiness for any task they might be required to perform.

MONITORS

The guardians of our lockers and the possessions in them are the Monitors. Although they are often looked upon with contempt, and thought unnecessary by students who are in a hurry and have no passes, they are the unsung heroes and heroines of Hyde Park.

As you have probably guessed, they have many duties besides protecting our halls from marauders who might enter with the intention of robbing the lockers of the students while they are in classes. The hall-guard must help guide the lost student to his classroom, and keep Hyde Parkers from wandering through the halls during periods.

This brings us to the matter of passes. The troubles of a hall-guard regarding passes are enough to write a book about. One of the main woes is the way they are made out. The necessary specifications for a pass are: date, period, destination, and, last but not least, the teacher's "John Hancock." And then, of course, there is the student without a pass. He is usually stubborn, and will not give in without an argument. Finally he is persuaded to return to the room from whence he came. If he then returns with a pass, the monitor beams his approval, and the student is allowed to go on.

The worst nuisance is the person who walks by, waves a slip of paper (supposedly a pass) under the guard's nose, and thinks he can get away with it. Inside, he knows he can't, but it is worth a try.

Now that you know their trials and tribulations, think kindly of these Hyde Parkers who make up our first line of defense.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Dancing couples glide smoothly over the gym floor while the nickelodeon is playing the latest song hit. What's the occasion? It is one of the class parties sponsored by our student government each term. Have you ever stopped to wonder who keeps the large bulletin boards about the halls, posted with the school's latest activities? Each day members of Student Government place announcements of school "doings" on all of these boards. The sponsoring of elections, the chartering of clubs, and the maintaining of the Lost and Found bureau, are all services rendered to you by your Student Government.

So to these Hyde Parkers who give so much of their time to help govern our school, let us give a cheer and resolve to cooperate with them 100 percent in the future.

OFFICE HELP

The serene quietness of the North Office and the efficient bustling in the South Office is due in part to the able student helpers who work there. Each day 'round the clock the regular office staff is aided by these girls and boys, who are all Senior Sponsors.

The visitor who enters the North Office is sure to be impressed and pleased by the courteous attention he promptly receives from the cheerful student receptionist who greets and announces him. This polite competence also wends its way across the hall to the sunny South Office, where other members of Office Help lend their able assistance by answering the questions of visitors and students, filing records, and when necessary, by going on errands. By its willing spirit, Office Help has become a vital part of school service.

DEWEY LIBRARY CLUB

In the southeast corner of the building lies Hyde Park's treasure-room of books —the library, where the members of the Dewey Library Club develop their interest in books. These enthusiasts serve an apprenticeship of six weeks, spending one period each day in this room of knowledge. Distributing the library slips, checking books in and out, collecting idle books from tables and returning them to the shelves, are only a few of their many tasks. On Valentine's Day most of the student body was adorned with red paper hearts, purchased from the club members to aid the fund to buy and bind magazines.

Quizzes and socials are also included in the club's program. We have Miss Alice Van Hattem and her co-workers to thank for the efficiency of the library.

BOOK ROOM

If, as some educators are prone to state, education is worth more than gold, the real "Fort Knox" of Hyde Park is located next to the Lost and Found and is labeled by the modest title of "Book Room."

For eight periods each day books are distributed to teachers who in turn pass them on to unsuspecting pupils.

Involved in this seemingly simple operation is a vast amount of clerical work. Necessary slips and receipts must be made out, and every book must be accounted for.

But such details do not seem to faze the workers in this sanctuary of knowledge, and it is through their efforts that the classes in the school are kept supplied with the real heroes of the educational system, the lowly textbooks.

BOOSTER CLUB

Our democratic way of life is displayed by the vim and vigor which is a part of the Booster Club. This vitality appears in the Booster members who boost school organizations, school sports, and most important of all, school spirit. Division room representatives display real school feeling, as they receive suggestions from their fellow-students and bring the ideas back to them. The Booster Club has won its name by being such a helper around the school. Their work never ends, for it is unlimited in scope and it is wanted throughout the year.

Hyde Parkers have an opportunity to display their artistic talents at the art exhibit sponsored by Boosters. During Clean-Up Week an extensive drive is supported by the club, and last year they received a plaque for this district as a reward for splendid work. The Boosters have also solved part of Hyde Park's "traffic" problem by putting the "up" and "down" signs on the "up" and "down" stairways.

Before the Christmas holidays begin, Hyde Park has a huge Christmas tree in the lobby. This and the Christmas baskets for the needy are the contributions of the Booster Club.

The Red Cross Drive was especially successful this year because of the diligent efforts of the club.

Although much of their time is spent in boosting school activities, they also take a few of their precious moments for planning parties, for their own enjoyment. Thus the Boosters have a two-fold purpose. They serve the school and have fun at the same time.

"Mi—mi—la—ti—do—" Hey, Joe, what's that next note?" Don't abandon hope, faithful music lovers. It is only a member of the Male Chorus airing out his larynx. In front of the towering rows of masculine figures is seen the tiny form of Miss Veronica Whelan, the sweet, able leader of the chorus. From the deep throbbing basses to the silver-voiced tenors of the Male Chorus comes melodic music.

Ballads, serenades, and chants are learned by this group of boys, whose musical achievements are deserving of the highest praise. Every semester their interpretations of musical compositions at our assemblies are always well received by the entire audience.

The boys are divided into groups of basses, baritones, first and second tenors so that a blending of their voices may be complete. Miss Whelan is constantly on guard for mistakes in their singing. She may proudly say, however, that the common words "flats" and "off tune" are seldom heard in the same breath with the Male Chorus.

To top off its golden score board, the chorus ranked exceedingly high in the Choral Contest of the South Side. It is quite an honor for us to have such a chorus.

Those sixty men and one woman have what it takes.

Silvery feminine voices float to the ears of an audience that is eager to hear them sing. These girls are developing their musical qualities for the future by singing in the Girls' Chorus. With this excellent choral training the members can sing in other reputable vocal organizations outside of school.

It is not necessary to be a Grace Moore or a Lily Pons to join the group, although such singers are welcome. If you are of the fair sex and can warble and harmonize, the Girls' Chorus is where your talents belong. The group's mellow altos, second sopranos, and light sopranos blend perfectly.

The members display their singing talents at their season's debut. In outfits of blue and white, the school's colors, the choral group makes a picture of loveliness on the stage of Loomis Hall. The choristers enlarge their collection of music by purchasing new sheets of music with the proceeds from their delightful spring concerts, which are always well-attended by the student body and parents.

All of the girls have increased their interest in music and in singing. A few of the chorus members may become prima donnas due to the splendid direction of Miss Grace Guller, their sponsor, who has given them helpful advice.

Because the enjoyment and knowledge of music has always been an objective of a well balanced education, Hyde Park boasts many organizations dedicated to giving opportunities for musical expression and appreciation to its pupils. The Mixed Chorus, directed by Miss Flora Churchill, is such an organization.

The Chorus has long been a Hyde Park institution and its recent performances at events such as the Spring Music Festival has enhanced a reputation that was already excellent. Since it is composed of both boys and girls the group has always been favorite among the students as well as among devotees of good music.

The fact is well-known that in times of danger and tribulation Americans turn to the music they love. From the days of "Yankee Doodle" to the present era, Americans have expressed themselves in song. These songs have renewed courage when the tide was ebbing, having inspired men to fight against odds ordinarily insurmountable and have given faith and hope when the future seemed dark.

In times such as these, the watchword morale is on the lips of everyone. Again music has taken its place of preeminence in America's heart, as she goes on to victory once more over all of the forces opposing her.

What well-known choral group offers a fine opportunity to the student who has the talent and determination to succeed in singing? The answer to this query can be found in the blue-robed, white-collared A Cappella Choir. Many times John and Mary Hyde Park have carried away from assemblies the memory of how well their choristers stood and looked behind the footlights.

As its name indicates, the A Cappella Choir sings its various songs without an accompaniment. Therefore, we rightfully give to our songsters an extra amount of credit, because of additional skill required to sing beautifully without the aid of an instrument.

The teacher behind the choir's many years of achievement is none other than Mrs. Lee. Quiet and unassuming, one would hardly think of her as being its director, and the one responsible for this attractive group of youthful melody makers.

Besides the complete concert our A Cappella Choir gives each semester, it also sings assorted selections in many recitals sponsored by and for Hyde Park music lovers. It is thus that the A Cappella Choir has upheld its high purpose and its musical standards throughout its entire existence.

Babel of melody . . . confusion . . . silence . . . and then the mighty sweep of a symphony.

Approximately one-half of our orchestral musicians belong to a junior orchestra and the more skilled players comprise the senior orchestra, both of which are conducted by Miss Finley. This latter orchestra elects its own president, who is Alger Stone this semester, and has a year 'round calendar.

Students who have danced to Richard Peck's swing band and who have attended the orchestra concerts have helped to pay for the buying and repairing of instruments. In March the Senior Orchestra takes a part in the Annual Chicago High School Orchestral Contest where Hyde Park is well represented.

Typical of the pieces in its repertoire is a lively Hungarian march—a suite of sparkling Spanish folk melodies, a magnificent symphony by Haydn, and varied music from many countries.

Certainly the music our orchestra plays, besides bestowing on the musicians and their listeners a cultural background and a taste for fine music, gives an opportunity to learn something of outstanding European compositions. This is gained by the performing of selections from internationally known music.

Because of the many vital services it performs, the Parent-Teacher Association has become a necessary part of Hyde Park. During their monthly meetings, mothers and faculty discuss ways to better school conditions. Also, an exchange of ideas concerning the problems which confront both of these groups is effected. Many of the instructors can express themselves equally well on both mothers' and teachers' problems, for they themselves are proud parents.

The tasks which this group performs for us are too numerous to mention in full. One of its most appreciated services, however, is aiding the pupils in selecting the delicious edibles which are served in the lunchroom.

Through their tireless efforts, our student body gains many benefits.

VARSITY MOTHERS

Time was when the Aitchpe tribesmen were, to put it bluntly, tattered and torn. This was the time that our coach, Elliott Hasan, decided to improve the lot of his teams. For the purpose of helping him in this task, he called a meeting of all the mothers of the boys on the teams and enlisted their support. That meeting was the beginning of the Varsity Mothers Club. From then on, their motto has been, "No ragged uniforms for any of Hyde Park's squads," and they have fulfilled that pledge completely.

Whenever the need for new or mended outfits arises, the Varsity Mothers get together and devise some ingenious method for raising the necessary funds. To these ever-helpful mothers goes the credit for the fine appearance of our boys on the athletic field.

The "big sisters" of Hyde Park, the senior girls, are bubbling with ideas which liven their activities. Their club was organized to give the feminine upper-classmen an opportunity to become acquainted with one another, and provide an outlet for their exuberant spirits.

Not only does the club promote friendships among the senior girls, but also the freshies of Hyde Park are given this opportunity at the "Freshie Frolic," which is presented by the club every semester. Streamers and balloons attractively decorate the Girls' Gym for the heyday. With this colorful background as the setting, an all-star cast of Hyde Parkers amuse the freshie guests. These wide-eyed newcomers who are adorned with green bows are served refreshments consisting of cookies, lollypops, and other goodies by their blue-bowed hostesses. The entertainment is climaxed by the crowning of a "Freshie Queen," who is chosen by some of the faculty and members of the student body. The fortunate girl is presented with a gift from Senior Girls, and then her "highness" reigns over her "court" with ease and grace.

When the girls are not preparing for this gala occasion, they are active in raising money for various funds in school.

The members proved to be super-saleswomen when they sold their magazine subscriptions and bought the needed cyclorama for Loomis Hall. Further proof of this salesmanship ability can be seen on Bow Day, at which time students boast these gay ornaments.

Although the girls spend many hours in helping the school they also find time to listen to speakers who increase their already extensive knowledge.

Much of the continued success of the club is due to its co-sponsors, Miss Rubetta Biggs and Miss Eva Henson, who have directed the girls' energy for some time. To this worthy organization these teachers have given freely of their valuable time. So to these sponsors who are vital in the progress of Senior Girls goes the credit of steering the club through its whirlpool of activities, which range from educational to social programs. Another factor which is important in the group's success is that its members are seniors who love the organization and alma mater that they are soon to leave.

The feeling among Senior Girls is unique in that they are in a sense "sorority sisters," who work toward a common goal and achievement—service to the school.

JUNIOR GIRLS

The Junior Girls are a truly illustrious group of female humanity, and in numbers sufficient to charm any passerby. Since 1909 the club has been in existence, and it stands as an organization through which the girls may become further acquainted with each other. The purpose of the group is being carried out through various activities, both social and charitable. Miss Hayes is the proud sponsor of this organization. Ruth Rosenberg is its industrious president this semester, and Vivian Schatzman led the group last semester.

Each year the Junior Girls are active in contributing toward the furnishing of the Teachers' Rest Room. In fact, we may give credit for the pleasing aspect of the room to the efforts of these girls. To obtain the necessary funds, the club has instituted an annual Lollypop Day. On this novel occasion, if dignified Hyde Parkers are seen strolling through the halls with a lollypop clutched in each hand, we may attribute it to the salesmanship of the Junior Girls.

At their meetings on alternate Fridays the Junior Girls make a lively group as they discuss their selling plans for their major effort, Lollypop Day. It is amazing how many details are essential for a successful campaign to gain funds for any laudable purpose.

So . . . teachers, next time you sink into the comfortable chairs in the teachers' rest room think of the Junior Girls and all the energy they spent in putting that lovely furniture there for you. They are deserving of plenty of praise for the good things they have done for the school.

SOPHOMORE GIRLS

Girls to the right of me and girls to the left of me! I have been surrounded by beautiful faces and soft, sweet feminine voices. I am not complaining; in fact, if nobody will object I shall stay here forever. However, one questions runs through my mind. Where am I? This is a query which is easily answered. The happy stranger has wandered into a meeting of Sophomore Girls, and like all visitors he was warmly received by the cheery members.

After their first year of high school life draws to a close, and our young ladies enter their cherished Sophomore class, the first club which they hasten to join is none other than Sophomore Girls. This group is their own private retreat. No lofty upperclassmen endeavors to invade this fortress, and a poor "freshie" who unwittingly stepped in would soon learn of his unforgivable mistake. Yes! Sophomore Girls is for Sophomore Girls only. Of course, as already stated, visitors are welcomed; nevertheless, they are not privileged to join the club unless they are second year girls.

The opportunities for educational and social advantages in this group are many and varied. During their regular meetings, the girls have quiz contests and stimulating discussions for mental activity. For relaxation and enjoyment they plan parties and then gaily participate in the fun. All in all these Sophomore girls certainly show themselves capable enough to advance to the next rung of high school success, and win for themselves the title of Juniors. From then on, who knows where they will go?

PAN-AMERICAN LEAGUE

Dashing caballeros and charming senoritas greet the members at the Pan-American League meetings. These pupils entice you with their musical talent and evoke your admiration for their splendid organization. There is never a dull moment at the meetings with an education or a social program in progress.

Speakers come to increase the knowledge of the members about South American history and current events. These lectures emphasize to the students how our relations with Latin America are constantly increasing. Besides taking an active interest in school activities, the Pan-American Club sends delegates to the National Pan-American League in Akron, Ohio, and to the Student Pan-American League in Chicago.

The members display their talent in the assembly which they present each year. The spicy South American atmosphere is predominant for this occasion. "Shake Hands Americas" is the theme of this assembly. Exciting incidents from South American history, South American songs and plays, and speeches by speakers are the highlights of the program. One of the feature attractions is the crowning of the King and Queen of Pan America elected from Spanish and Latin-American classes.

The co-sponsors of this successful club this year are Miss Marcella Conley and Mrs. Anita Maloy.

The members who belong to this colorful organization enjoy the meetings as much as Ferdinand enjoys the fragrance of the young ladies' flowers.

THE FRENCH CLUB

Now that France is in such great need of spiritual support and the maintenance of its traditions, it is important that we try to boost the study of the French language and literature. The French Club, under the direction of Miss Slaught, tries to do just this.

The club's members learn useful, everyday French along with appreciation for the nation's great books, poetry, and music.

To aid in bridging the gap, now that most communications with Europe are cut off, the president of the French Club, Kitty Potter, has urged Hyde Parkers to write letters to children in unoccupied France.

In this age of futile hate and misunderstanding between countries, let us cheer for our Hyde Park Club which tries to pull the shoe-strings of the world a little tighter.

CLASSICAL CLUB

Through hundreds and hundreds of years, Rome, the pillar of culture of the old world spoke that mother of our modern languages, Latin. In 1942 A.D. Mrs. Bergstrand, director of the Classical Club, tries to acquaint Hyde Park students with the culture of one thousand years ago. The club studies Latin intensively and learns of the life, the customs and the literature of the Roman people.

The club also makes very interesting and instructive posters, which are placed on the bulletin boards around the school. These posters show the students the practical application of Latin, and they are instrumental in boosting the study of the Latin language.

Somehow the past does not seem quite so dim when the Latin club carries the torch to explore the dark tunnels of the ages.

ASTRONOMY CLUB

Astronomy Club members find enchantment in contemplating what they describe in astronomy as the blue expanse of ether, galaxies of incandescent gas, and the twinkling of luminous bodies thousands of light years away. To such lovers of the unknown the mysteries of the universe are unfolded.

Their leading star, Miss Grace Peebles, takes the club heaven-bound at their weekly meetings, where they have "heavenly" motion pictures and lectures in which they delight.

The Astronomy Club also makes visits to the Planetarium to keep their knowledge up-to-date. Here they see with their own eyes the movement of the stars and planets. These blinking bodies of inconceivable vastness no doubt account for many an hour's examination by the club members.

GARDEN CLUB

When Burbank discovered a method in which to graft plants and grow them in many ways, he had no idea how many organizations would spring from his studies. One outgrowth of his research is the Hyde Park Garden Club.

Guided by Miss Fuchs, the members discuss the cultivation of plants and landscape gardening. Not only do our botanists know how to wield a spade, but they also learn how to construct terraniums, which they can use for ornamental purposes around the home. Proof of their horticultural knowledge can be seen in the North and South offices, where boxes of thriving plants help to keep our school the attractive one we all wish it to be.

So long as there is a Garden Club you may be sure that there is beauty and growth in Hyde Park.

GIRLS' CHEMISTRY

The Girls' Chemistry Club is in session. There is the fragrance of tea in a Florence Flask, merrily boiling over a Bunsen Burner and the tinkle of beakers being washed out for use as cups.

These are things that a passer-by first sees as he pokes his nose into the chemistry laboratory to view what is going on.

The masculine chemistry teachers smile in amusement as the girls let down their hair and seriously discuss with Mrs. Komar, chemistry as applied to modern living.

After a general discussion during which time experiments are performed, these girls pour their tea into the beakers, help themselves to some cookies generously donated by one of the members, prop their feet on the desks, and gossip as only girls can.

CONSERVATION CLUB

The Conservation Club wants everyone to realize that many of our country's natural resources are being carelessly wasted, and that it is for each and every loyal American to stop this deplorable squandering.

The club members, who are under the supervision of Mrs. Baumgardner, are not only improving their knowledge of nature and soil conservation, but they have also sponsored a drive in which the sum collected was used to buy a government film, "The River." This documentary motion picture vividly pictures the rampant Mississippi and the results of man's lack of conservation in its valley.

Thus, by bringing before Hyde Parkers the havoc of wanton waste, the members hope to plant in the hearts of the students the seed of conservation which they hope will grow.

ZOOLOGY CLUB

"Calling all Herpotologists! Calling all Entomologists!"

No, we haven't swallowed a dictionary! The above are just the technical names of snake fans and ant fanciers. Persons answering to these descriptions and others, who delve into the wonder-world of science, may be found in the Zoology Club.

This organization, sponsored by Mr. Claude Shideler, was organized to further interest in things zoological. Discussions and field trips are but a small part of the club's extensive program. By making the other inhabitants of the animal kingdom well known to those who profess to be of the human gender, zoology is made a living subject rather than a collection of facts hidden in a musty volume whose only use was to press flowers.

The Zoology Club gives those interested in science an opportunity to engage in social activities, and at the same time to interchange ideas pertaining to natural science.

In this service lies the value of the organization, giving, as it does, a chance of learning to appreciate the world we live in.

The present times demonstrate as possibly nothing else could the value of a scientific education. Today colleges and universities are stressing Science Survey Courses. Therefore it behooves the students in High School to grasp every opportunity to extend their studies in these fields. Besides the courses offered as major subjects, the school's science program includes the many science clubs and honor classes. In the forefront of these ranks the Zoology Club.

1A DISCUSSION GROUP

Each day, both in and out of school, pupils are confronted by various problems which they do not know how to solve. However, our freshmen are fortunate in having an outlet for their queries. Mrs. Randall has organized a discussion group to work out these problems and answer the bothersome questions. Thus, first year students bring their troubles to the Discussion Group and eagerly await the interesting and helpful suggestions which are offered by Mrs. Randall and fellow-students. Every-day social problems and world affairs form the topics of conversation.

Hereafter, instead of calling the first year pupils "the poor freshmen," the upperclassmen may be obliged to change their tune and say instead "those lucky freshmen, they certainly know the why's and wherefore's."

MAGICIANS' CLUB

That the hand is quicker than the eye was convincingly demonstrated to a Loomis Hall audience when the Magicians' Club, in its initial school-wide effort, presented a magic show that would have reflected credit on Mandrake or Blackstone.

The Magicians' Club was founded to bring together the followers of the ancient art of magic and proved an instantaneous success. They were recently accorded some well-merited praise when a Chicago morning newspaper printed a spread of pictures on them.

So if you should have any rabbits to be pulled from opera hats or have need of any other phenomena, just call on our magicians. The only trick they do not guarantee to perform is extracting E's and S's from our faculty, who do not believe in the supernatural.

OFFICE MACHINES

The visitor who strolls into the Office Machines room is instantly greeted with the whirling and clicking of a number of small machines. As the person glances hesitantly about the room, an efficient girl receptionist steps forward and greets the newcomer. The outsider is naturally very favorably impressed by the business-like appearance of the "office." Most certainly one should be amazed at the sight of so many interesting and useful machines.

In this "office" are taught the mysteries of operating ten different types of time-saving devices: the adding, filing, and listing machines, dictaphones, calculators, mimeographs, and the Monroe Electrics.

The "boss," Mrs. Laura L. Brown, offers fine instruction to these seniors, who are the office workers and career girls of the future. Pupils who are anxious to get ahead in the business world learn the mechanics of a modern office by working in a school-room office.

Now that hundreds of men are moving into industry and entering the armed forces, more positions are being opened up to women. Therefore, we may look forward to watching many Hyde Parkers becoming executives. These aspiring private secretaries may take pride in the practical business education offered them at Hyde Park High School.

Through the years to come these seniors of the Office Machine Class will remember, with pleasure, the instructions of Mrs. Laura Brown, and the great fun they had in running a make-believe office.

SPORTS

FOOTBALL—1941

This was a happy hunting year for the Aitchpe sport squads. With gameness typical of the Redmen, the Braves went forth to gain victory and glory for the Aitchpe Tribe. On the football field the banner of the Tribe was carried high by the boys wearing the blue and white jerseys.

It takes "guts" to make a mid-season comeback. The Hyde Park gridders made a mid-season comeback. Reason? They had the spirit to refuse to accept any more defeats. And the result? After receiving three discouraging defeats at the beginning of the season, six scalps were hung in succession on the Aitchpe victory pole.

The fall semester opened with a 44-0 setback from the Fenger powerhouse. Two additional defeats were suffered by the team before the tide turned with a 20 to 6 victory over South Shore.

The season was concluded with a brilliant 20-0 victory over Englewood, our traditional pigskin rival, who was completely vanquished in that final game. The award for that smashing triumph is the plaque now hanging in the boys' gym. Two important factors accounted for the successful showing of the squad, namely: Coach Hasan and Captain Ed Kallish. Hasan's inspirational coaching combined with Kallish's field leadership furnished the coordination necessary for victory.

May all successive football elevens show the same spirit and gameness that flowed in the '41 team.

FOOTBALL—1941

THE FOOTBALL PLAQUE

Today Hyde Park is the proud owner of the Englewood-Hyde Park football plaque. The plaque was inaugurated in 1937 by the Englewood Lettermen and the Aitchpe Tribe to be presented to the school which won the first four of a series of seven interschool football games. The Tribe lost the first game 12-6, but shut out Englewood in the next four games to win the plaque.

The brains? behind the brawn!
One swell fellow, Mr. Gonnelly.

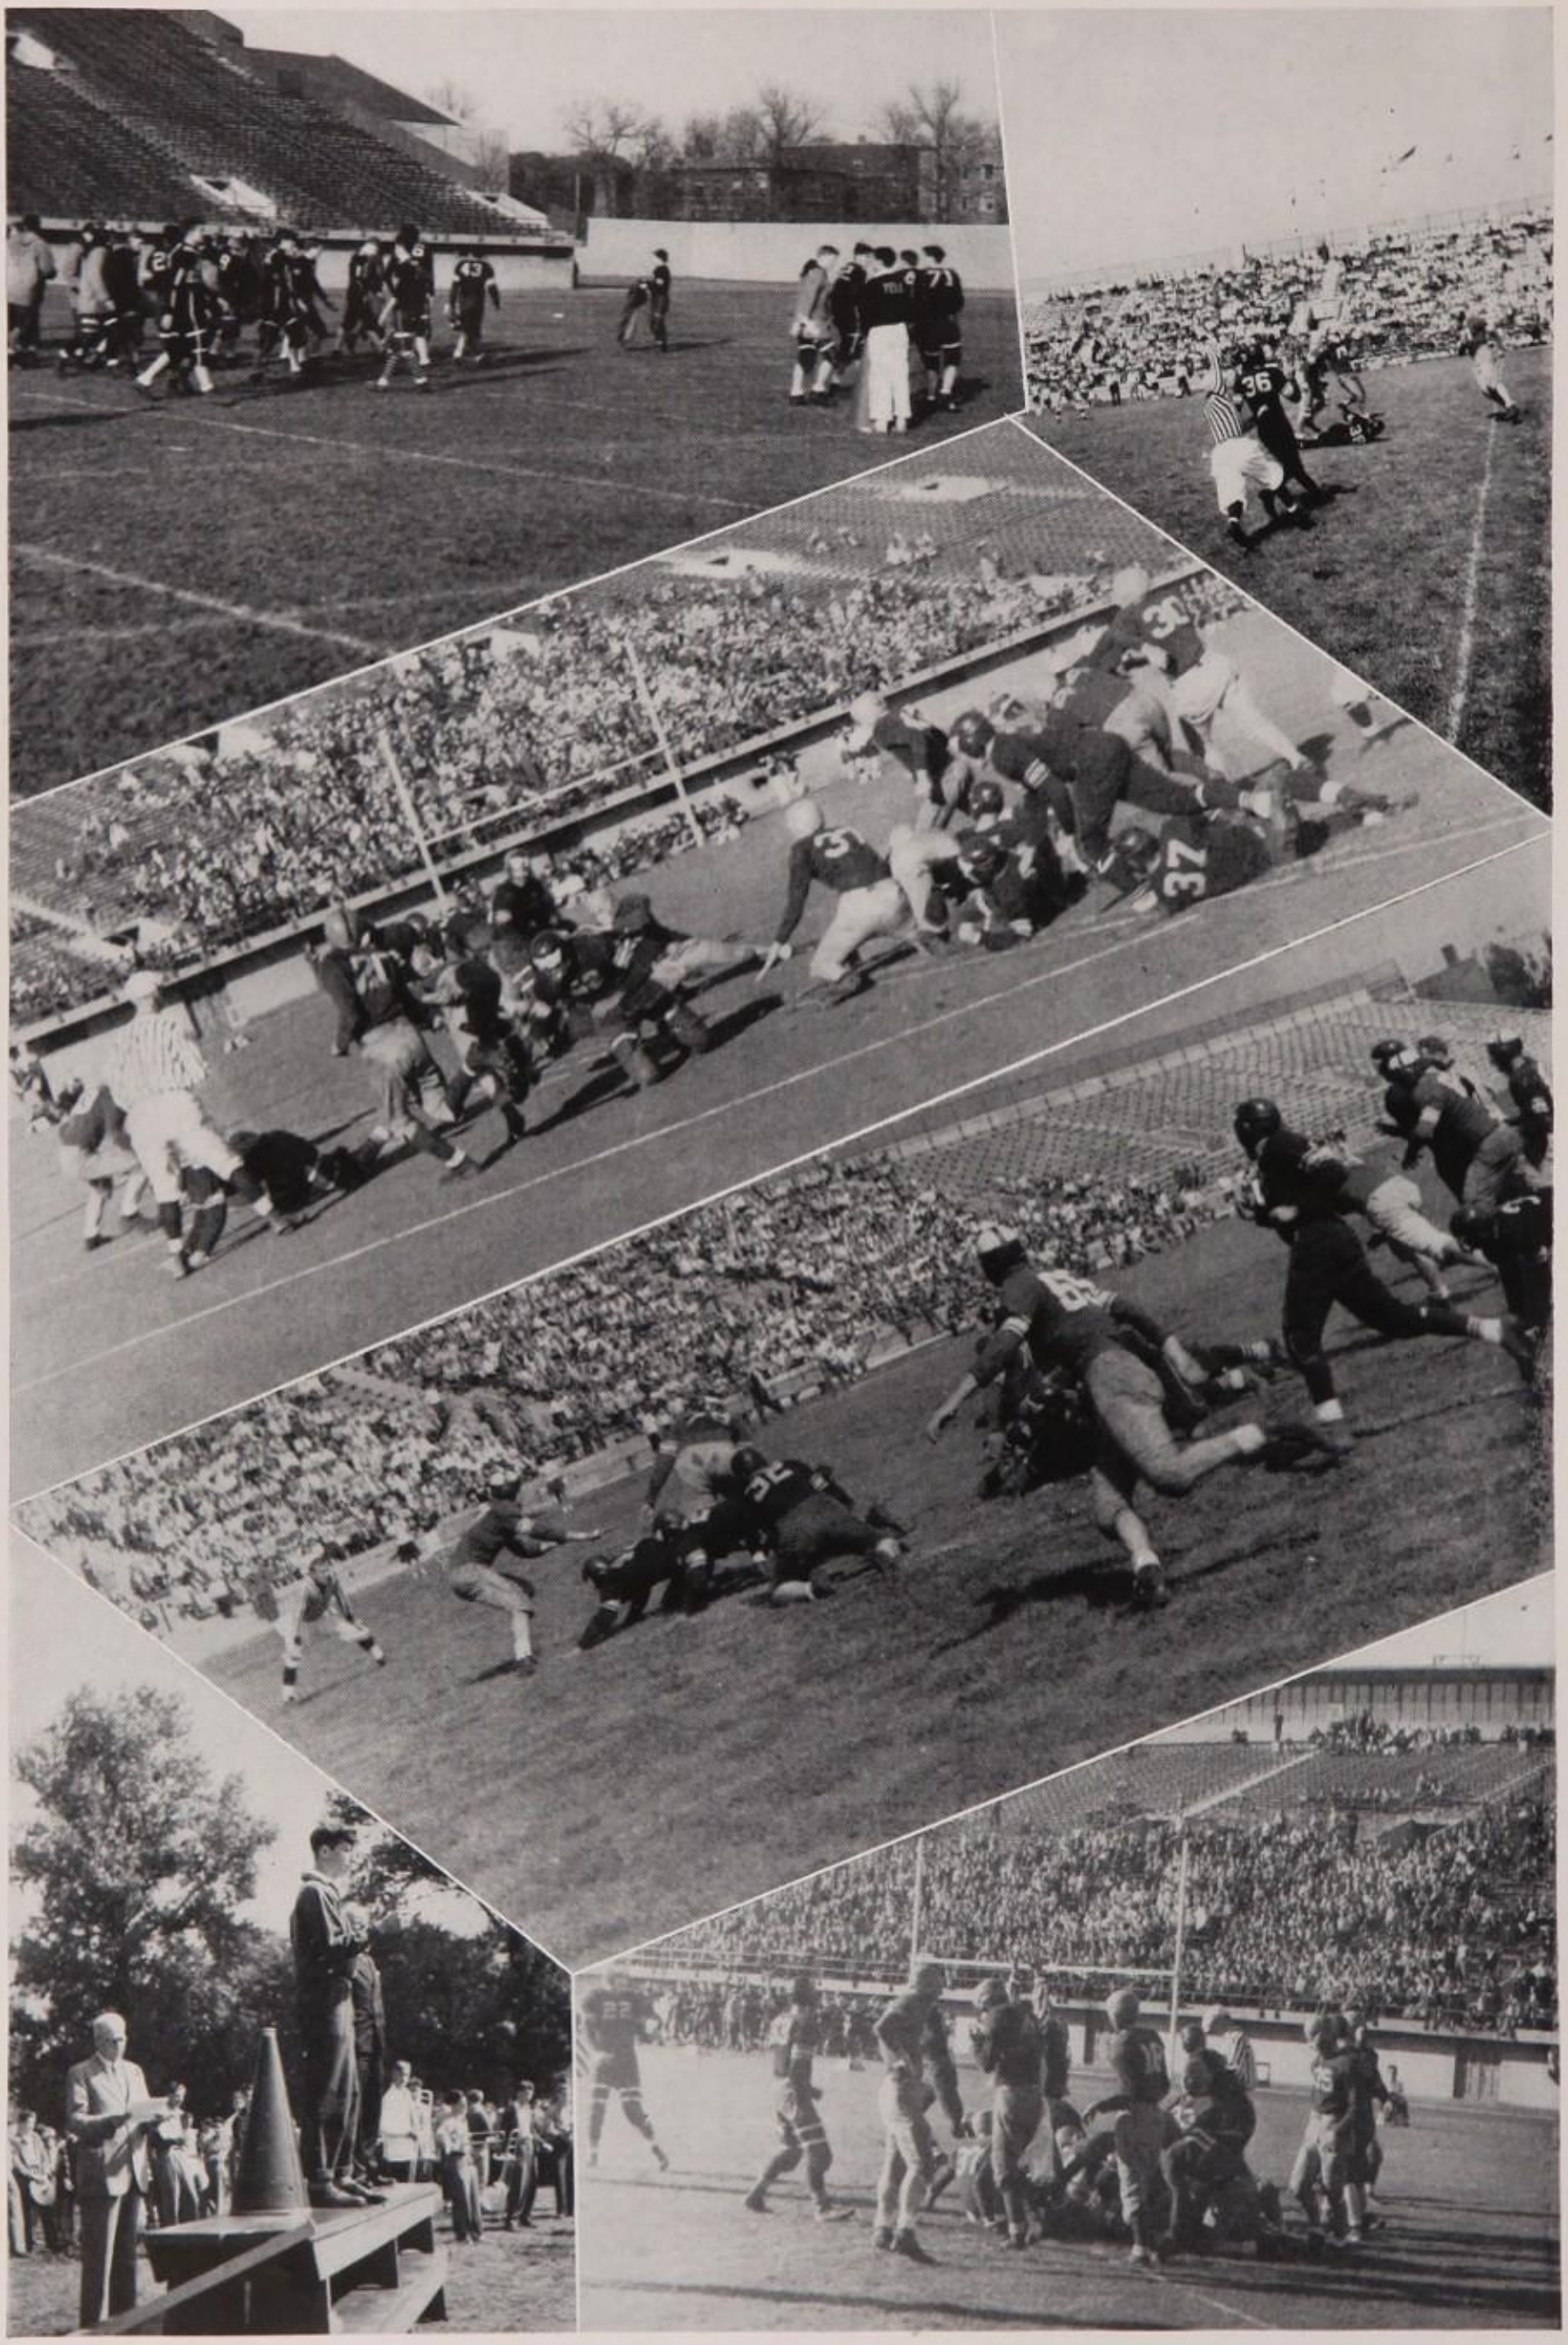
GRADUATING MEN: Row 2—M. Loeser, B. Franklin, S. Smith, C. Wolf, R. Allen, E. Kallish, Capt.; G. Vaundry, B. Eisenstein, I. Wein, C. Boettcher, S. Gordon. Row 1—J. Wasko, H. Buckendahl, J. Clark, C. Panama, M. Glatt, B. Kinsey, B. Hallet, F. Malloy.

"A word to the wise is sufficient."
Oh! And it was almost a touchdown.

SPORTSMANSHIP TROPHY

To the loyal Hyde Parkers who cheered the Tribe through victory and defeat in the football season, the District 4 Football Sportsmanship Trophy is a tribute. Judges watched the actions, cheers, and attendance of the student body at all the games. As a record of the fine sportsmanship shown by the Aitchpe rooters, this Trophy is added to our Trophy Case.

RETURNING MEN: Row 3—B. Siegal, C. Hamity, H. Levy, C. Smith, C. Taylor, B. Watt, B. Newall, E. Banks, W. Hard. Row 2—W. Polakoff, B. Olsen, W. Carter, B. Corbett, B. Johnson, M. Brody, K. Overmeyer, D. Neher, J. Fisher, J. Frank J. Williams. Row 1—I. Weir, E. Hoenle, J. Telsey, J. Fine, P. Geragos, R. Altheimar, A. Ferguson, R. Cohn, R. Price, E. Clemans.



It's okay fellows, you'll get 'em in the second half.
You tell 'em.

Pardon the elbow.
Now, now, let's not get rough.

They got me, brother.
Heap, big tribesman.

Careful! You'll fall.

How's he doing, Mr. West?

SWIMMING

Powerful "aquatics" race towards the finish line. Every muscle in their bodies is strained as they swim towards victory. So swam Captain Richard Houcek as he came in fifth in the 100 yard crawl at the annual state swimming meet at Springfield.

These "water boys" gain skill and joy as they engage in swimming, diving, and various water sports. Unfortunately Coach George West was hampered by a shortage of material to develop into a winning team. The swimming feats of Captain Houcek and the diving of Bill Chase stand as symbols of the success to be gained in this sport if only more boys would go out for the team.

"Sons of Neptune" is a fitting name for these dashing Aitchpe swimmers.

SWIMMING: Row 2—Somerman, Nelson, Rhein, Schram. Row 1—Altheimer, Hayness, Houcek, Chase, Hogarth.

SENIOR BASKETBALL

The basketball streaks through the air. It sails towards the hoop. With a delightful swish, it goes through the meshes. Two more points are recorded for the Aitchpe Senior five. This scene augmented many times gives one a picture of the activities of the Senior Basketball team.

This was a successful year for the heavies. Although the team did not spark in the pre-season games, the basketeers really hit their stride in the regular season. With the eye of Seymore Reismore functioning like an eagle's, the team rolled up three victories to two defeats by the January commencement. Then disaster struck. With the graduation of Reisman, Captain Bob Schloerb and four other team members, things indeed looked dark.

But the word defeat was not in the vocabulary of Coach Schultz's boys. A team composed of Reilly, Nelson, Berkson, Bowen, and Kriloff took the floor for the Tribe and captured second place in the South Section with six victories to only three defeats. It then entered the city playoffs only to lose to the strong Kelly quintet by one point, 37-36. With this setback, the season ended.

Laurels to Forward Reisman who chalked up 95 points in the five games before his graduation. By scoring 30 points against Parker, Reisman set a new Aitchpe scoring record.

JUNIOR BASKETBALL

The basketball court is filled with action! Upon the floor are ten fighting midgets battling it out. Five of the small basketeers are easily recognized as members of Hyde Park's Junior Basketball team. For although the quintet is limited to boys less than five feet seven inches tall, the Hyde Park Juniors are not restricted in stamina, spirit, and ability.

The team started this year with the calamitous '40-'41 record to live down. With an ardent determination, Coach Elliott Hasan and his "juniors" resolved that the disastrous record would not be repeated. It was not! The team pulled out of its losing streak in time to chalk up five victories against only four defeats in the South Section, tying with two teams for fourth place. A coin was tossed to decide which team would enter the city play-offs. Our Juniors lost the toss.

Leading high scorer of the squad was Eli Bender, who scored seventy points during the league season. Other members of the team who contributed to its success include Captain Frank Yaeger, Lezak, Freedman and Foote. The fine showing of these five are high points in the Aitchpe sports chronicles this year. The '41-'42 basketball squad will always be remembered as a consistent spirited basketball team.

Hey, it's behind you.

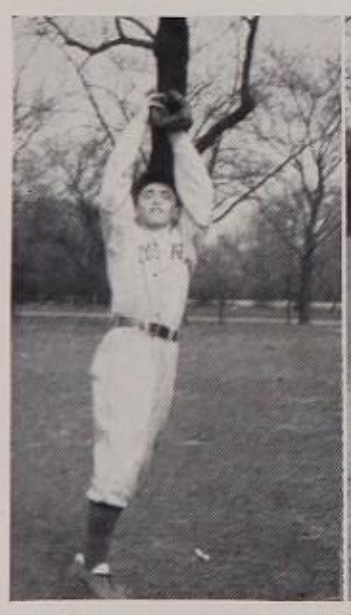
BASEBALL TEAM

The catcher finishes buckling on his chest protector. The pitcher on the mound takes a final look at his infield and outfield. The umpire yells, "Play ball." With this signal the Aitchpe nine prepares to start another season of baseball.

The year opened with a 10-5 setback from the Morgan Park team. Hyde Park bettered its standing in the second game when the pitcher, Wherry, held the Harper squad to a lone run while the Tribe batted ten runs across the plate.

Although the team was weak in the pitching and fielding departments, the batters pounded the ball at a 300 clip. Leading the team in slugging out hits were two outfielders, Anderson and Cimerblatt, and second baseman Cranert. The strenuous pitching schedule was handled by Wherry, Reilly, and Abrams in a masterly fashion. The whole difficulty with the squad was lack of pitching material.

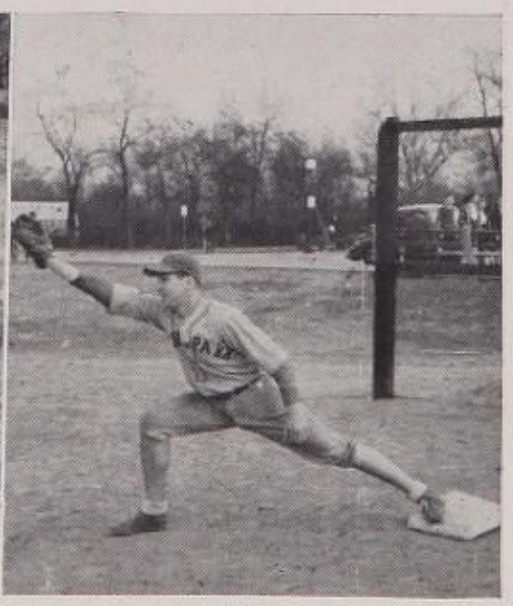
Coach "Heinie" Schultz deserves full honor for his spirited coaching of our boys engaged in this great American sport.



Got it! Get it!

How graceful!

Get on your horse, Artie.



What a stretch.

SOCCER: Row 3—M. Prager, M. Rusnak H. Mirochnick K. Wherry, R. Brest, B. Grenrock, Mgr. Row 2—J. Collinsworth, S. Massel, P. Tenner, G. Kaplan, H. Baer, N. Fox, M. Goldmeier, R. Baer. Row 1—C. Ullman, C. Mottier, E. Marks, A. Goldman, W. Goldschmidt, Capt.; W. Loebenberg, L. Rosenberg, W. Van Hoesen, W. Marx.

SOCCER

From Marks to Rosenberg to Goldschmidt to Baer! So traveled the soccer ball as it was passed on the way towards tallying another goal for the Aitchpe booters. Watching the team in action, one immediately notices the coordination and teamwork which accounts for the brilliant success of the '41 team.

Led by Captain W. Goldschmitt, the team's high scorer, and coached by Heinie Schultz, the squad won six games while suffering only two setbacks. The team lost the final conflict of the season to Tilden 4-3. This defeat deprived the Hyde Park soccer team of winning the South Section title.

The team members know that only the combination of perfect teamwork and the individual skill of the players molded the squad into a fast and efficient working team. Yet it was only through hard work and constant practice that the team achieved its success. It is with pride that we say the '41 soccer squad was not only one of the finest in the city but one of the finest soccer teams in the sports annals of Hyde Park.

Come, come! Get in there and fight!

Good block, Goldschmidt!

That's using your head.

Oh, that figure!

SENIOR TRACK

The mystery of the scantily clothed boys who race through the halls during the winter months has now been solved. We are proud to disclose that they are the members of the Aitchpe Senior Track squad. With the coming of spring, these fleet trackmen transfer to Jackson Park for their daily practice sessions. Every day one can see these disciples of Mercury practice pole vaulting, jumping, and sprinting in a very befitting manner.

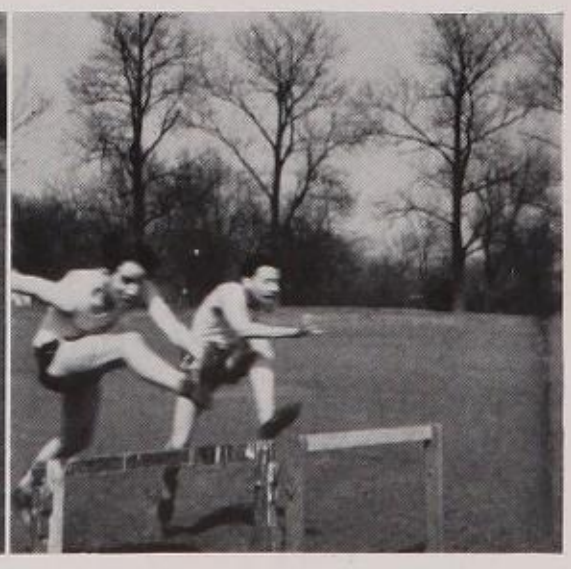
These tracksters are coached by Mr. Lloyd Rohrke and captained by Bill Smiley.

JUNIOR TRACK

Tension is high as the tracksters, with a final forward plunge, cross the finish line. This was the scene at the Junior City Indoor Track Meet as Captain Bert Levy ran the sixty-yard dash in record time. The Aitchpe Juniors hit their stride this year and captured fifth place in the city finals. Came the outdoor season and the squad continued their fine track and field showing under the captaincy of Maurice Rusnak. No wonder the smile on Coach Rohrke's face is broad! Just look at the success of his "Juniors."

All set and no place to go.

Hi ho Smiley, away.



We're breathless.

GOLF: Row 2—Scher, Cone, Friedman. Row 1—Fox, Capt., Deutsch.

GOLF

Fore! With this warning the Hyde Park golfer sends the ball sailing towards the green. The men of the niblicks and mashies, under the coaching of George West, travel over hill and dale scoring birdies and eagles. Although the team under the captainship of Ted Fox is not one of the best in Chicago's history, it consistently shoots in the eighties. The season opened with a close defeat by the Kelly squad, but this did not hinder our boys from doing their best in the following matches.

Keep your eye on the ball. Foxy form. Quit stalling and putt. Nice backhand. What a swerve.

TENNIS

The racquet flashes through the air and, as it connects, the ball is sent smashing into the opposite court. This is the scene as two stalwart men face each other in a tennis match. Knowing that one of the players is an Aitchpe "tennister," a sport spectator is sure to find the match a vigorous and skillful performance.

This year's squad was composed of John Weiss, Sonny Wein, Al Finder, and Langdon Foust with Coach Hasan leading the netmen to tennis fame.

AITCHPE TRIBE

These are the Braves who go forth to conquer on the field of athletic endeavor. They string up the scalps of their defeated opponents with the old Aitchpe spirit.

This same Indian spirit was transferred to the student body by the Tribesmen. Proof of this is the Sportsmanship Trophy now residing in the Social Room.

So—"you do your best boys, and we'll do the rest," and Hyde Park will win.

CHESS AND CHECKER TEAMS

Kings! Queens! Knights! No, we are not returning to the age of chivalry, but are just naming some of the important pieces which decide the fate of every chess game.

Tense with excitement, the players survey the chess board and analyse their positions, making the best possible move. It requires infinite patience and concentration to play chess, and in these traits our team excels.

Perhaps a checker board is just a maze of useless squares to you, but to Hyde Park's checker team it has a more important significance. By constant practice and with expert instruction from Mr. Ottosen, these checker enthusiasts become excellent players.

CHEERLEADERS

Are they clowns? No! Are they contortionists? No! Well who are they? Those girls and fellows are Hyde Park's cheerleaders. Their odd, almost unattainable positions are the accompaniments to Hyde Park yells. These active students are the "voices of victory" at football and basketball games, and the "scads of spice" at many assemblies. Their everlasting display of real sportsmanship and the pep and enthusiasm with which they work has added greatly to school spirit.

PEP CLUB

Each day over that broad network of radio stations we hear the call for pep and energy. "The All American Boy" eats his "Wheaties." However, what the members of Hyde Park's Pep Club consume is a query for the "Inquiring Reporter," for they seem to have a constant reserve of vitality.

Mrs. Alice Daniels, gym teacher, organized this group so that all interested in cheering our teams to victory might receive the proper instruction.

G.A.A.

Every Thursday in the girls' gym you can see young ladies doing their daily dozens on rings, ladders, and parallel bars. G.A.A. is in session. In one corner of the gym, girls in green suits and white blouses can be observed dodging, turning, and throwing basketballs in their efforts to "make the basket." In another section a ping pong ball goes rapidly back and forth across a ping pong table while excited observers heckle the players. G.A.A. girls also know the ups and downs of those lively games, tennis and badminton, for they practice them faithfully, and in a very short while play like veterans.

The goal toward which all the girls strive is to receive their Hyde Park letters, which entitle them to enter that exclusive realm of G.A.L.

G.A.A. III: Row 3—E. Silverstrom, L. Bobb, H. Brooks, J. Schaefer, J. Parrish, K. Krantz, L. Brasseur, N. Pinches, P. Kerns. Row 2—A. Franz, J. Cole, B. Bain, M. Dowell, M. Rowe, A. Chapman, T. The girls, however, do not limit all of their meetings to sports; they plan parties, dances, and a Play Day, which is the semester's big event. Plans for a gala affair are made by the girls, and invitations to G.A.A. members from other schools are sent out. A few of the high points of the afternoon are: a trip around the school to make the visitors feel at home, games in the girls' gym, and entertainment and refreshments in the Social Room, the grand finale. A Play Day is also observed in other schools by the Girls' Athletic Associations, and representatives from our group visit their schools. This day, filled with fun and frolic, has been a contributing factor to the friendliness that is present among all the members of the various Girls' Athletic Associations.

G.A.L.

There is a group of Hyde Park girls who are really on their toes. They're popular! They're athletic! They're G.A.L.'s! Are you one of them? If not, you're really missing something for these girls have proven their merit by earning their Aitchpe letters.

Few are the girls who attain this goal, for the road which leads to a letter-girl is a hard and rocky one.

SADDLE SHOE CLUB

Hyde Park extends a welcome to the newly formed talent club called "Saddle Shoe."

Only pupils who have special qualifications, such as dramatic talents or dancing ability can enter the group.

The club is now busy preparing a comedy entitled, "Her First Dance." It will be given sometime in the future. In time to come the group hopes to present many more plays.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL: Row 2—C. Colvert, E. Zieger, D. Taylor, H. Thompson, M. Robben, T. Williams, M. Moyer. Row 1—F. Epstein, M. Schulman, C. Holmberg, S. Berg, H. Haeger.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

If, after school hours, you are attracted to the Girls' Gym by the shrill feminine shouts issuing from there, you will quickly discover that nothing serious is happening—it is just a girls' basketball game in progress. Although their enthusiasm exceeds their skill at first, these girls soon will develop into expert players.

The valuable physical training they receive by participating in this sport will make them fit daughters of Uncle Sam.

GIRLS' BASEBALL

In the spring a young girl's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of baseball, particularly if she is a member of our Girls' Athletic Association.

An indescribable urge descends upon these girls to go out on the park diamonds, firmly grip a bat, and knock the ball into the blue.

Each fine afternoon they are coached by Mrs. Hayden until their teams have lost most of their rustiness. With the lengthening shadows they call it a day and start homeward.

BASEBALL: Row 2—A. Stimas, E. Peters, H. Haeger, A. Schulsser, D. Weaver, H. Kondiler, H. Jacobs. Row 1—F. Epstein, R. Jacobs, M. Schulman, S. Berg, C. Holmberg.

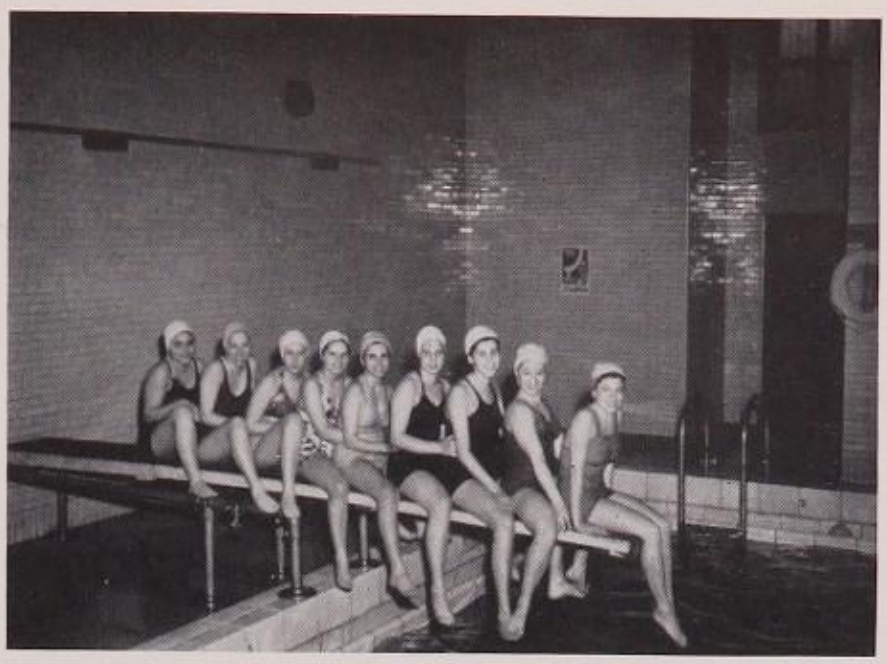
All set!

A little action please.

No connection.

GIRLS' SWIMMING TEAM

Brrrrrr! It's cold! Not the weather but the water. However, members of the swimming team soon warm themselves up with a rapid workout of both diving and swimming. Since practice makes perfect, twice each week the team works for perfection in the water. In the diving category, front dives, jack-knives, swan dives and back dives are practiced. Time is also devoted to the various forms of swimming such as the backstroke, crawl, and the sidestroke. Thus the girls have a well-rounded water program.



GIRLS' SWIMMING: Row 1—I. Udelevitz, J. Schaffer, R. Schefman, E. Holmay, C. Janetos, E. Zieger, K. Posolsky, B. Walden, S. Fallor.

Zieger. Row 2—A. Goldberg, H. Wohlhaus, M. Bruno, L. Engelhart, A. Brown. Row 1—B. Baron, Mrs. Daniels, C. Yungmeyer, E. Travis.

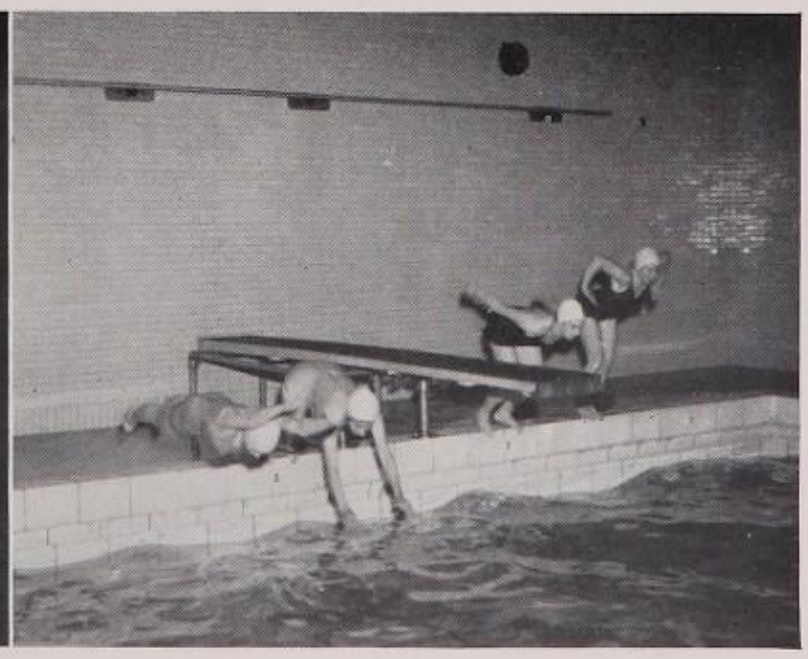
RED CROSS

Sirens scream. Ambulances and police cars are on their way to the accident. But those precious moments before the arrival of the ambulance may mean the difference between the life and death of the victims. However, if a trained first-aider is present, the injured person has a better than even chance of recovering.

To prepare some of our girls to meet any crisis, Mrs. Daniels has organized a First Aid Class. When this twenty-hour course is completed the girls are qualified first-aiders.

You'll cut yourself with that jackknife.

Same me! Save me!



You're off, and we do mean off.

HORSEBACK RIDING CLUB

To ambitious horseback riders and to those eager to learn riding, the Horseback Riding Club offers a welcome.

On Thursday afternoons the tenderfoots of the club can be seen learning the fundamentals of this sport, while others who have acquired the skill canter along the trails.

These dauntless equestrians who are instructed by Mrs. Mabel Perham merrily jog along the bridle paths of the Midway Plaisance with a song and a smile on their lips.

GIRLS' TENNIS CLUB

If you love to bat a ball over a net and enjoy striving to return those fast balls consistently slammed your way by your opponent, you should join the Tennis Club.

The girls, imbued with a love of tennis and wishing to improve their ability in this sport, meet once a week in the girls' gym. Thus, with instructions from petite Miss Gardiner, their sponsor, and much practice, these potential Alice Marbles gradually become expert tennis players.

Trot, trot, trot, along the bridle path.

Beauty and the beast.

All you have to do is hit the ball.

R.O.T.C.

Today America stands at the crossroads of her destiny. In the hands of this generation lies the fate of the entire world. Upon the shoulders of the American youth rests a burden that has broken many broader shoulders. In these days youth must be prepared to take up the gauntlet and to carry on the struggle against the foes of her democratic soul.

Today, more than ever, the school has the responsibility of building a citizenry which will uphold and maintain the sacred spirit of liberty.

An integral part of the machinery performing this task is the Reserve Officers Training Corps. In this organization the student is taught the fundamentals of military science under the direction of trained and competent army officers. The Hyde Park R.O.T.C. is commanded by Sergeant Will J. Brewer, and under his leadership the unit has grown to a position of pre-eminence in the city. The corps also performs many vital services for the school. The cadets serving in M.P. posts throughout the school have become a familiar sight. Corps members also serve as monitors for Hyde Park's other activities.

In a nation where military service has not been emphasized the student training in the R.O.T.C. has been the one steady source of personnel for our armed services. Today a great percentage of the men in our military arms are graduates of high school and college courses in this training.

The skeptics may ask how these products of a voluntary and rudimentary military course compare with the hardened veterans of the enemy countries. The forces of our foes have been bred in the shadow of the bayonet. From infancy to old age they have been little more than infinitesimal cogs in a vast war effort.

The answer to such questions is obvious. The gallant men in the fox-holes of Bataan, the hell-hole of Corregidor, and the blood-soaked sands of Wake Island have proved completely that free men can and do fight much better than do the enslaved forces of the enemy. The valorous tradition of American arms is being preserved in this conflict by a generation whom the foe has labeled as "soft and incompetent." These critics may find their answer in the rising casualty list of the men of Japan and her ally, Germany. Certainly the final outcome of the war will bear testimony to the efficiency of such a system whereby the young men of a free nation are voluntarily trained to preserve and perpetuate the American policy of liberty.

The Hyde Park R.O.T.C. is but one of the many such organizations all over the nation, in colleges and universities, as well as high schools. They are teaching the young men of our nation the self-discipline and self-reliance that are necessary for a successful career as a citizen and a soldier in a democracy.

Two events loom large in the yearly program of our R.O.T.C. unit. Federal Inspection held this year on May 8th, and the annual June parade down Michigan Avenue where the massed personnel of every corps in the city appears. On this date, the result of a year's labor is subjected to the critical eyes of Federal authority. The entire program is pointed toward this day, when the efforts of the officers and men are rewarded by the approval of army officials.

The Hyde Park unit is composed of six companies and their officers. From each company outstanding members are drawn and the "Picked Platoon" is organized. DRUM MAJORETTES

BAND

There is excitement in the air . . . a murmur runs through the crowded assembly hall. Friends glance at each other and then gaze with expectancy towards the stage. Up there gleam highly polished instruments, contrasting sharply with the somber olive-green of the R.O.T.C. uniforms. Suddenly Capt. Fagan, the bandmaster, raises his baton and a stirring march fills the auditorium.

At first the casual observer notices only the boys in the band. However, if one looks closely he can observe girlish forms among the mainly masculine organization. The girls, by merit of their ability and eagerness to play, have won a berth in the band.

Behind our R.O.T.C. Band is a long history high-lighted by the yearly winning of trophies dating back as far as 1928, which represent skillful performing at annual contests since then.

DEAR GRADUATES

and thanks a lot for your patronage the past four years

I have always been very proud of the fact that I graduated from Hyde Park High, a school of high scholastic standing, from its beginning in the 70's to the present. As time passes, my sincere wish is that your every ambition will be realized.

For the past 30 years, we have been serving Hyde Park students 24 varieties of hot and cold 6c sandwiches and ice cream. That means we have served your parents, you, and are looking for future business from your children. Best of luck!

and swellest sorority sisters any girl could have. Loads of success in your future and here is hoping you graduate this time. Love, Betty

P.S. Keep your chin up till the flute comes in!!!!

Dear Marian—

Well it has been a long time, four years and I have enjoyed all of it. I was a well meeting you and becoming such good friends. Mort's a good kid, don't lose him. I always want to see you after we graduate and let's hope we do graduate. Honest, I'm having a hard time writing this because every body is yelling. But you know that I do wish you all the good luck in the world and I'm sincere about it. I would write lots more only you know how I do. I'll just hope you get everything good.

Love,
Muriel Lipson

Dear Marian

Although I've known you for a long time we never been very close but in the last few months I've come to like you very much. I hope we can be the best friends in the future.

Love
Gloria
Grandpa.

Dear Marion:

As long as I have known you I only think you are the sincerest girl I know and I really mean it. We have had lots of fun together good laughs, and I hope after you graduate you will stand remember one of your old friends. I want to wish you all the luck and happiness that God can give you, because you certainly deserve it. I hope that "honey" comes back soon, so once again you will feel happy. You know what I think of your "sugar Daddy", I think he is tops. "Sugar Daddy" was certainly good to me. I have nothing else to say except that again I want you to have everything of the best God could offer you.

Love and kisses.

Your friend always

Doris Gudrey Schaffer.

P.S. Please do not forget me!

Marion - Sure am sorry that you left South Shore, but will see you in Hyde Park. Hope to get to know you better. Good luck -

Dearest Marian,

First of all I want to wish you every thing in the world, because you really deserve it, it might sound like the same old junk but I really mean it, when I say that. Since I've been friends so long I've told you all my troubles and asked your advice so many times I'm afraid you'll be sick of me. I hope we can keep as close friends as ever and never interfere with it not let any "parties" for the rest of our lives. Love "Bitte"

Dear Marian.
Here's wishing one great girl the best of everything in the whole world. I really mean it.

Love
Bet.
